

Auditable transferability matrices — used as compatibility metadata and safety guard, not as the main performance driver

